Lynn VanBrocklin is the creative force behind Lynn's Rags, an innovative, D.I.Y. fashion line that works vintage concepts into modern, wearable nostalgia. After six years' experience as a resale buyer, Lynn has launched her own successful online store and has begun supplying her designs to local resale stores. Each piece is one-of-a-kind and inspired by the memories of Lynn's youth, such as 80's cartoon sheets, lacy nightgowns, and her mom's outfits from the 70's. Her inspirations generally come from the past, and she re-visions them in a modern context. "My vision is simple, to take vintage clothing and turn it into something modern and wearable. In a society ruled by trends, I fight for individuality. I value the power of expressing oneself through what you wear. Selling my clothing allows me to give young men and women a sense of joy when they wear something completely original and nostalgic." www.lynnrags.com
